INTRODUCTION.

MANKIND in its working capacity may be classified for statistical purposes according to two classifications, the one occupational and the other industrial. Much confusion appears to exist as to the meaning of these terms, which are often used as though they were synonymous. It may be well, therefore, to define the sense in which these terms are here employed.

Occupation.—The occupation of any person is the kind of work which he or she performs; and this alone determines the particular group in an occupation classification to which the person is assigned. The nature of the factory, business, or service in which the person is employed has no bearing upon the classification of his occupation, except to the extent that it enables the nature of his duties to be more clearly defined. This will perhaps be made clearer by an example. A "fettler" (i.e., a cleaner) "of castings," may be employed in a Brass Foundry, a Bedstead Works, an Engineering Works, or in any kind of works in which articles are cast from molten metal. But the nature of the works in which he is employed has no bearing upon his occupation, and all "fettlers of castings" should be classed to the same occupational group.

Industry.—The industry in which any individual is engaged is determined (whatever may be his occupation) by reference to the business in, or for the purposes of which, his occupation is followed.

As a single business will employ a number of individuals of widely varying occupations for the purpose of affording a particular service or creating a particular product, it will be seen that the industrial classification differs essentially from the occupational in that the latter only takes account of the nature of the work performed by the individual, while the former has regard only to the nature of the service or product to which his labour contributes. The man who is occupationally a carpenter or a carman, for instance, is classified industrially to building, if employed by a builder, or to brewing, if employed by a brewer.

It is a person's occupation, i.e., the nature of his work, which determines the type and degree of the strains, physical or mental, to which he is subjected, and the conditions generally under which his working life is lived. These are in the main independent of his industrial association, i.e., of the industry or service which affords him employment. Hence, it follows that a satisfactory occupational classification must ignore the irrelevant consideration of industry, grouping together, e.g., all clerks, whether employed in insurance, trade, or railway transport, etc. But industrial association, grouping together all persons, whatever their occupations, who contribute their labour to a particular service or product, is also of prime importance, largely from the economic point of view, e.g., as affecting unemployment, and as in the aggregate affording a record of industrial development. In the absence of full recognition of the fundamental difference between these principles of grouping, classifications have been framed which though described as occupational prove on examination to be largely industrial. But a hybrid classification cannot serve either purpose adequately, hence the need for the dual classification, if information is to be provided upon both these important aspects of national life.

THE OCCUPATIONAL CLASSIFICATION.

The Occupational Classification is based on material worked in and process carried out, and for the non-productive occupations, type of service individually rendered, while degree of skill is also taken into account.

It consists of 32 main groups of Orders, some of which are again divided into Sub-Orders (see pages 1 and 2), and under these Orders and Sub-Orders are enumerated the various occupations or occupational groups to be tabulated.

But while Orders and Sub-Orders have been introduced into the classification as a convenience in defining and explaining the methods followed in assembling the occupations dealt with into an orderly list in which those possessing some common feature are grouped together, it must not be assumed that they provide any information of practical value as to the occupation of the individuals comprised. Thus, there is nothing in common between the grain miller and the toffee boiler except that both are makers of foods (Order XIV: 1).

Orders I, II and III comprise what may be termed the primary extractive occupations—fishermen, agricultural occupations and mining and quarrying occupations.

The first two groups include only those persons actually engaged in fishing or in directing fishing operations or in agriculture or in directing agricultural operations. Group I, therefore, excludes the engine-room staff on steam trawlers, because they are not themselves actually engaged in fishing. On the other hand, the Agricultural Occupations include the gardener in private employ because his actual work is agricultural though his employment may be " Private Personal Service."

The Mining and Quarrying Occupations include all the underground workers in mines except professional men (e.g., Surveyors) and mechanics and engine drivers. They do not include those persons employed in quarries, or open workings, or at the mine surface who would be classed elsewhere if they were not employed at a mine or quarry. For example, a platelayer working below ground in a coal mine is classed as a coal mine road worker, but if he were employed on the surface at the same mine he would be classed as a " Platelayer " (Group No. 493).

Orders IV-XXI comprise all the skilled workers and some of the unskilled workers who are engaged in any process of manufacture, repair or maintenance. The classification is according to material worked or process carried out. For instance, all skilled metal workers are classed in the same Order, a plumber being occupationally a metal worker, although he is usually thought of in connection with the building industry. Printers and painters (Groups XVII and XIX) are classified by the process on which they are engaged irrespective of the material on which it is exercised.

It has been mentioned that these groups (Orders IV-XXI) include only some of the unskilled workers. As a rule all the unskilled workers have been relegated to groups 920, 930 or 940, except in a few instances, where it was deemed desirable to isolate certain types of unskilled labour, either because the nature of the work was regarded as of sufficient importance to warrant separate tabulation, or because the conditions under which it was carried on (e.g., exposure to heat) made a separate tabulation desirable. This wholesale relegation of unskilled labour to a miscellaneous unskilled labour group irrespective of the nature of the work performed or of the works or factory in which the individual is employed is not incompatible with a classification of occupations. These unskilled workers may be divided mainly into two groups—(a) " those engaged in moving material or tools from one part of the works to another or in sweeping and cleaning up " and (b) " those engaged in simple manipulative processes or tending repetition machines."

As regards the first group, if a man is wheeling coal or sweeping up a yard, it is immaterial to his occupational classification where that work is being performed, and all such persons should be allocated to the same group. As regards the second group, the work is simple and needs no training and the workers are readily transferable from one industry to another. Their enumeration by the precise nature of the work done would therefore be of little interest. Moreover, tabulation of occupations in each industry by linking up the miscellaneous unskilled workers with the industry they serve, provides a general indication of the nature of their work, beyond which the information on the schedule (e.g., labourer, cotton spinning mill) does not as a rule avail to define it.

It will be noted that in each Order or Sub-Order " Employers and Managers " and " Foremen and Overlookers " are enumerated jointly for the whole Order or Sub-Order. The precise nature of the duties of these persons, which varies according to the business in which they are employed, is indicated as far as may be, like that of the unskilled labourers, by the tabulation of occupations in each industry.

Order XXII.—Persons employed in Transport and Communication—comprises all persons actually engaged in transport or in directing transport. It therefore includes the directing chiefs of the Postal and Telegraph Administration. It excludes all persons employed in upkeep and maintenance, and therefore excludes the Platelayer. Here, again, the considerations as to unskilled labour noted for Orders IV to XXI apply.

Order XXIII. Commercial, Financial and Insurance Occupations (excluding Clerks). This Order includes all Merchants, Dealers, Shopkeepers and Shop Assistants, but excludes Warehousemen, Packers and Warehouse Assistants (Order XXIX.). It includes the higher officials in Banks and Insurance Offices, but excludes the rank and file of the clerical staff.

Order XXIV. 1.—Public Administration—includes only those servants of the Government or of Local Authorities who could not be assigned to some other occupational group. The general body of clerks are included in Order XXVIII.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CLERKS EMPLOYED IN CLASSIFYING OCCUPATIONS.

1. Particulars to be coded.—The Schedules are to be coded in column " K " headed " Personal Occupation " in regard to the personal occupation which the person is following or has followed, and also in regard to the status (see Instruction 20) which he or she occupies or occupied in that occupation (see copy of schedule on pages x and xi).

A detailed statement showing the various occupational terms in use in this country at the present time will be found on pages 14 to 127. These are assembled into groups which are identical with the titles in the Occupational Classification. The groups themselves are further classified under Orders and Sub-Orders, a list of which is given on pages 1 and 2 while on pages 3 to 13 these are shown along with the groups of which they are composed.

The coder should first learn the arrangement and full titles of the Orders and then of the Sub-Orders and Groups.

2. Procedure to be followed.—The proper group to which an occupation should be classed may be found by means of the Alphabetical Index which should be used in conjunction with the Classified List.

So far as the skilled productive occupations are concerned the classification is generally dependent upon the material worked in, either alone or in conjunction with the process carried out, but occasionally (e.g., painters, printers) on the latter factor alone. It will be seen that the majority of the terms in the Alphabetical Index are qualified by a word or words which imply the material worked in, the trade or service in which the occupation is met with, or in some cases a definition of the occupation. Regard must be paid to these qualifications in deciding to which heading an occupation should be coded. The business of the employer as shown in column " L " will often furnish an indication of the material worked in, for example :—

Personal Occupation (Col. K.).	Industry (Col. L.).
Planing Machinist	Machine Tool Makers.

The business of the employer (Machine Tool Maker) at once suggests that, the person is working in metal, and reference to the Index shows that the code number for a " Planing Machinist " in the metal trades is 170. Had the information been " Planing Machinist in a Saw Mill " it would have been clear that the person was working in wood, and reference to the Index would have shown that 425 was the correct code number. Again, take the term " Dyer "—reference to the Index shows that the trades in which it is usually met with include :—

Dyer (Feathers)	Code Number	542
Dyer (Fur)	,,	285
Dyer (Leather)	,,	285
Dyer (Photographic Plates, etc.)	,,	588
Dyer (Raffia, Grasses)	,,	548
Dyer (Straw Plait)	,,	368
Dyer (Textile)	,,	328

Should the coder come across the term " Dyer " in connection with a trade which cannot be reconciled with the list in the Index, the entry must be referred to the supervisor. If, however, he finds a term without such industrial qualification in the Index, e.g., Surgeon, Bricklayer, Sheet Metal Worker, Motor Mechanic, then it may be taken that (with due regard to distinctions dependent on status) the occupation is to be given the code number shown in the Index whatever the industry may be.

3. Influence of Status—In deciding to which group an occupation should be coded regard must also be had to the position or status which the person occupies in his or her trade or business, e.g., whether an Employer, Manager or Foreman, and whether working on " Own Account " or in the employment of another person, and the following rules are to be observed.

(a) Persons described as Employer (" Employs others ") in Column " L " (Industry Column).—Look up in the index the term as given in the " Personal Occupation " column (column " K "); if it is shown in the Index qualified by the word " Employer," then code accordingly. If the term is not so qualified and in the Order or Sub-Order to which it is classed there is a group " Employers and Managers," it is to be coded to that heading. If there is no such group in the Order or Sub-Order, and the group to which the term is classed in the Classified List has not the letter E marked against it, then it is to be referred to the supervisor.

(b) Persons described as Manager in Column "K" ("Personal Occupation").—Look up occupation corresponding to the business carried on by the employer and code to the heading "Employers and Managers" if such exists in the Order or Sub-Order to which the employer's occupation is classed. If there is no such heading the rule for employers in similar cases is to be followed. If, however, the manager is in charge of a special department of the business corresponding with any of the headings for "Employers and Managers" in the Classified List other than that appropriate to the employer's business, entry should be made under this heading. For example:—

Personal Occupation (Col. K.).	Industry (Col. L.).
Sales Manager	Gramophone Factory, Code 686 and not 550.
Advertising Manager	" " Code 723 and not 550.
Cabinet Factory Manager	" " Code 410 and not 550.
Machine Shop Manager	" " Code 130 and not 550.
Counting House Manager	" " Code 881 and not 550.

A General Manager in a Gramophone Factory would, however, be coded 550.

The following terms may be regarded for coding purposes as synonymous with Manager:—

Assistant Manager.
Assistant Manageress.
Chairman.
Company Director.
Departmental Manager.
Director.
Factory Manager.
Factory Superintendent.
General Manager.
Manageress.
Managing Director.
Mill Manager.
Staff Superintendent.
Superintendent.
Under Manager.
Works Manager.
Works Superintendent.

(c) Persons returned as Foreman or Overlooker in Column "K" ("Personal Occupation").—Look under "Foreman" or its synonym in the Index and Classified List; if the term is found there, code accordingly. If it is not found there, and the person is returned as a foreman in a certain kind of works, look up under the employer's business. If the group is marked (F) code accordingly; if it is not so marked, but in the Order or Sub-Order to which it is classed there is a group "Foremen and Overlookers" code to that group; if there is no such group, the case must be referred to the supervisor.

If returned as "foreman" in a particular trade, e.g., "Foreman Horse-keeper" and the group to which that trade is classed is marked (F) code accordingly. If the group is not marked (F) but in the Order or Sub-Order in which the occupation is classed there is a group "Foremen and Overlookers" code to that group, but "Foremen" over any occupation coded 920, 930, or 940, must not be coded to group 911. In every case they must be referred to the supervisor.

If there is no group "Foremen and Overlookers" in the Order or Sub-Order in which the occupation is classed the entry must be referred to the supervisor.

It will be seen that in Orders VII (Metal Workers), and XII (Textile Workers), Foremen are sub-divided according to the branch of work in which they are engaged. Care must be taken that Foremen in these sections are correctly coded in accordance with this sub-division.

The following terms may be regarded as synonymous with "Foreman":—

Boss.
Charge Hand.
Charge Man.
Factory Foreman.
Factory Overseer.
Forewoman.
Gaffer.
Ganger.
Head Man.
Overlooker.
Overman.
Overseer.
Store Foreman.
Stores Foreman.
Supervisor.

(d) Persons returned as "Own Account" in Column "L" (Industry Column).—Look up the occupation in the Index and code accordingly, but remember that under no circumstances must a person who is returned as "On Own Account" in the "Employment" column be classed to a group entitled "Employers and Managers."

(e) Persons returned as Assistant Foreman, Under Foreman.—Persons so returned are not to be classed as Foremen, but are to be dealt with as follows :—

Look up in the Index under Assistant Foreman or whatever synonym is used, and if the term is found there, code accordingly.

If the person is returned as Assistant Foreman over a particular gang of workers, e.g., Riggers, Sailmakers, Bricklayers, etc., code to the occupation in which he is Assistant Foreman, unless that occupation is included in Groups 920, 930, or 940, in which case the entry must be referred to the supervisor.

If, however, the person is returned as " Assistant Foreman " in a certain works, look up under the employer's occupation and code to the group " Other Skilled Workers " in the Order or Sub-Order to which the employer would be classed ; if there is no such group the entry is to be referred to the supervisor.

The following terms may be regarded as synonymous with Assistant Foreman or Assistant Overlooker :—

Assistant Chargeman,
Leading Hand,
Leading Man,

and any term mentioned in Instruction 3*c* if prefixed by the word " Assistant."

4. Labourers, General Labourers, and Miscellaneous Unskilled Workers.

(a) Labourers.—Persons returned as " Labourer " in column " K " (Personal Occupation) without any further information in that column are to be coded 930 unless they are employed in Agriculture or at a Mine or Quarry, when they are to be coded to the appropriate group in Orders II or III.

If a person is returned in column " K " as a labourer at a certain kind of works code to 940.

(b) General Labourers.—Persons so returned are to be coded 920 unless employed in Agriculture or Underground in a Mine, in which cases they are to be coded to the appropriate groups in Orders II or III.

5. Dealers, Shopkeepers, Salesmen and Shop Assistants.—It will be seen that Dealers, Shopkeepers, Salesmen and Shop Assistants are divided into Wholesale and Retail and that Retail Dealers and Shop Assistants are further sub-divided according to the commodity sold.

As a rule the division between Wholesale and Retail will be fairly simple, and the code number in the column " L " (Industry) will be a guide.

The following column " L " (industry) code numbers, always relate to retail trading : 608, 611, 613, 615, 617, 619, 621, 623, 627, 629, 631, 636, 638, 645, 647, 650, 652.

In the following cases the occupation may be regarded as retail selling unless it is definitely stated otherwise : 602, 604, 625, 632, 634, 640, 642.

Where it is not possible to decide whether a business is wholesale or retail the occupation is to be coded 689 or 719 as the case may be.

Managers and Assistants in Departmental Stores are in retail trade and must be coded according to the department in which they are employed. If the department is not stated code to 684 or 715 as the case may be, and, if the department is given, but is not specially provided for, code to 685 or 716.

6. Persons Training for a Trade, Profession, &c.—(a) Apprentices or Improvers actually employed in factories, works, &c., are to be coded to the trade to which they are apprenticed or in which they are improvers—

Apprentice Fitter ..	..	Code No. 180 (Erectors, Fitters).
Apprentice Milliner	..	Code No. 348 (Milliners).
Apprentice Draper..	..	Code No. 712 (Salesmen and Shop Assistants retailing Textiles and Clothing).

(b) Apprentices, articled pupils and others training for a profession and actually employed in their prospective occupations in offices, studios, &c., are to be coded 818 with the exception of Agricultural or Forestry pupils on Farms, &c., who are to be coded 014.

(c) Where vocational training is being received in school, college or other educational institution and there is no evidence that the person is actually engaged in his prospective calling code 960.

7. Relatives Assisting in Business.—Persons so returned are to be coded as follows :—
In a wholesale or retail dealing business, code to the appropriate group (Code Nos. 700-719).

In Restaurants, Lodging and Boarding Houses, or Hotels, code to 861, 862, or 864, as the case may be.

In the Building or Decorating Trades, males are to be coded to the particular trade followed, but females over 20 years of age should be coded to the " Employer and Manager-" heading in the particular section ; under 20 years of age they should be coded to 889 (Other Clerks). For example :—

Column " K " (Personal Occupation).	Column " L " (Industry).		Code No.
Assisting in the business ..	Plumber	Male	215
		Female, aged 27 ..	130
		Female, aged 18 ..	889
Assisting in the business ..	Painter and Decorator ..	Male	518
		Female, aged 45 ..	500
		Female, aged 16 ..	889

If on a Farm, and a specific occupation is not given, code to 012 (Farmers' Sons, Daughters or Other Relatives assisting in the work of the Farm), but Farmers' Relatives returned as of definite occupation, e.g. :—

Farmer's Son, Cowman,
Farmer's Daughter, Dairymaid,
Farmer's Brother, Ploughman, must be coded according to the Occupation which they are following and not as Farmers' Sons, etc.

8. Retired or Pensioned.—Persons returned as " Retired " or " Pensioned " or as having formerly followed an occupation are to be coded to their former occupation and the code number is to be prefixed by the letter Y, thus :—

Pensioned Railway Clerk, code Y889.

Females who state that they are Army or Navy Pensioners must be coded X.

In addition to those persons definitely stated to be " Retired " or " Pensioned " the following are also to be coded as " Retired " when their previous occupation is given :—

(1) All Inmates of Mental Hospitals, Mental Deficiency Homes and Lunatic Asylums.
(2) All Inmates aged 70 years and over of Poor Law Institutions.
(3) All Inmates of Almshouses, Homes for the Aged Poor and similar Institutions.
(4) All Inmates of Convict Prisons.

Retired members of the Civil Services of India and the Self-Governing Dominions who do not appear to have been employed in this country are to be coded X. Members of the Indian Army do not come under this rule.

Persons (except Members of the Imperial Naval, Military, or Civil Services) who state that they are Retired or Pensioned from an occupation which they carried on outside the limits of the United Kingdom, are to be coded X.

9. Scholars, Students, &c.—Persons aged 14 years and over, without stated occupations, who are returned as scholars or students are to be coded 960.

10. Visitors from abroad.—Persons who return their place of residence as situated outside the United Kingdom are to be coded 961 or 962 (Persons following an occupation outside the United Kingdom) irrespective of their occupation, unless they are members of the Imperial Naval, Military or Civil Services. Members of the Civil Services of India and the Self-Governing Dominions who do not appear to be actually serving in this country, are also to be regarded as working outside the United Kingdom and coded accordingly. Members of the Indian Army do not come under this rule. Cases of doubt must be referred to the supervisor.

11. Indian and Colonial Civil Servants employed in the United Kingdom.—Members of the Civil Services of India and the Self-Governing Dominions employed in this country are to be coded as though employed in the Home Civil Service.

12. Agent, Broker, Factor.—No attempt has been made in the Index to enumerate all the different types of agents, etc., which may be met with, as the result would certainly be cumbrous, and probably incomplete ; such terms as house agent, cotton broker, etc., must, therefore, be sought for in this form, as used to show the particular kind of agent indicated. If the term used can be found in this way in the Index, or in the Classified List, code accordingly; if not, the entry is to be referred to the supervisor.

13. Factory Hand, Factory Operative, Factory Labourer.—Look up in the Index and Classified List, and if found, code accordingly. If not found, code 940.

14. Stationary Engine Drivers; Dynamo and Motor Attendants; Oilers and Greasers of Machinery.—It will be seen that persons classified under each of these groups (Code Nos. 900, 901, 906-909) are divided into "Persons Working Underground in Mines" and "Others" and care must be taken that all cases in which these occupations are carried on below ground in mines are correctly coded. All doubtful cases must be referred to the supervisor.

15. Pea Pickers and Fruit Pickers who also state their normal occupation are not to be coded 038 (Pea and Fruit Pickers) but to their usual trade.

16. Porter.—Care must be taken that persons returned as porters are properly coded. Separate headings are provided for Railway Porters and for Hotel, Hall or Door Porters. Dock Labourers also are often described as Porters, and should be coded 645. A list of Porters who must not be coded 659 (Porters—not Railway, Dock or Domestic) is given below:—

	Code No.		Code No.
Arcade Porter	879	Marine Porter	645
Canal Porter	645	Night Porter (not Railway)	869
Club Porter	869	Porter at Flats	869
College Porter	869	Porter of the Close	912

Deal Porter (Docks)	645	Quayside Porter	645
Dock Porter	645	Railway Porter	599
Door Porter	869	Resident Porter	869
Fish Porter (Docks)	645	Riverside Porter	645
Fish Porter (Railway)	599	School Porter	869

Kitchen Porter	850	Timber Porter (Docks)	645
Lodge Porter	912	Waterside Porter	645
Luggage Porter (Hotel)	869	Wine Porter (Docks)	645

17. Lodging and Boarding Houses. — On Schedules with boarders or lodgers in excess of the number of persons in the family, including private domestic servants, and no person on the schedule returned as a Lodging House Keeper, the head of the house or, if the head is returned as following a definite occupation, his wife or other female relative, is to be coded as a Lodging House Keeper.

18. Governesses in Private Families where there are no children over 5 years of age should be regarded as Nursery Governesses and coded accordingly (850). If there are children over 5 years of age not attending school, the governess is to be coded 800. Nursery Governesses are always to be coded 850.

19. Warehousemen.—An employee returned as "Warehouseman" or "Warehousewoman" in column "K" is to be coded 890 (Warehousemen), no matter in what trade or business engaged unless described as:—

Biscuit Warehouseman in a Pottery, or Glost Warehouseman in a Pottery, in which cases code to 098 (Other Skilled Workers in Pottery).

Persons returned in the column "K" as "Warehouseman" and in the column "L" as "Employs Others" or "On Own Account" are not to be classed as "Warehousemen" but as "Proprietors and Managers of Wholesale Dealing Businesses," e.g.:—

Column "K" (Personal Occupation).	Column "L" (Industry).	Code No.
Silk Warehouseman	Employs Others	686
Woollen Warehouseman	Employs Others	686
Drapery Warehouseman	Employs Others	686

unless the business be for Warehousing or Storing only, as apart from Dealing, when they are to be coded 890, or unless in a lace manufacturing district a person is returned as a Lace Warehouseman (Employer), in which case the code would be 300.

20. Status.—The code for Status is as follows :—

	Code No. :—
Retired	Y (prefixed)—see instruction 8.
Employer	1
Chairman of Company
Managing Director
Director
General Superintendent (of a large concern)
Branch Shop Manager, and Manager of primary operations in manufacturing or other business	1 & 2*
Manager of Office or Subsidiary Department	1 & 3†
Operative	4
Own Account	5
Out of Work	6

* Status code 2 to include Managers of Chain Stores, Managers of Branch Dealing Shops and Managers of Departments in Departmental Stores.

The following examples indicate the types of Managers in manufacturing and other businesses to be referred to this group :—

Column K.	Column L.
Saw Mill Manager.	Timber Merchant.
Iron Foundry Manager	Motor Works.
Spinning Mill Manager.	Cotton Spinners.
Foreign Branch Manager.	Insurance Brokers.
Bank Manager.	Bankers.
Cardboard Box Making Departmental Manager.	Stationery and Cardboard Box Manufacturers.
Traffic Manager.	Carriers.

† The following examples show the kind of Managers who should be coded 3 :—

Column K.	Column L.
Manager, Packing Case Department.	Tobacco Manufacturers.
Rounds Manager.	Milk Dealers.
Shops Inspector.	Grocery and Provision Dealers.
Accounts Department Manager.	Departmental Stores. / Boot Manufacturers.
Traffic Manager.	Brewers.
Office Manager.	Manufacturing Firm.

Farmers should always be " Employers " or " Working on Own Account." Any cases of Farmers returning the name of an Employer in the " Employment " column must be referred to the supervisor.

The status code number must be written after the occupation code number with a stroke to separate them thus :—419/4.

21. Institutions.—Every Institutional Schedule is to be referred to the supervisor.

22. Terms not found in the Alphabetical Index and Classified List.—Terms will be met with which will not be found in the Alphabetical Index and Classified List. All such cases must be referred to the supervisor.

23. Exceptions to Rulings.—Cases will be met with where owing to peculiar local usage of terms, the coder may see reason for departing from the rulings laid down in these instructions or in the Classified List and Alphabetical Index. All such cases must be referred to the supervisor.

24. Occupations apparently inconsistent with Age, Sex, etc.—The coder must consider whether the code number which he enters is consistent with the age, sex, and circumstances of the individual and the district in which he or she resides. In certain cases, a list of which is given below, he must refer to the supervisor :—

(1) Females returned as following occupations believed to be invariably or almost invariably followed by males only.
(2) Males returned as following occupations almost invariably followed by females only.
(3) Young Persons described as engaged in professions and occupations inconsistent with their age.
(4) Persons described as " Employs Others " in industries nearly always carried on by companies or local authorities.
(5) Persons described as working on " Own Account " in businesses which could scarcely be carried on without employees.

25. Special Instructions, etc.—Before commencing to code a volume, the coder must see that he is in possession of any special instructions relating to the locality.

26. Use of Query Sheets.—Every coder will be supplied with a separate query sheet for each volume with which he deals, and " referred to the supervisor " in the foregoing paragraphs means entry of the item on this query sheet.

This sheet is intended to be used freely. It is no reflection on the ability of a coder that he usually has a long list of queries, and experience has shown that the clerks who make free use of this sheet are usually the most accurate coders.

The query sheet serves a double purpose—

(a) It saves the coder's time in ascertaining the correct assignment in doubtful cases (each coder will be required to turn out a certain quantity of work per day).
(b) It enables the correct classification of doubtful cases and of occupations not in the Index to be circulated for the benefit of all.

27. Issue of Supplements.—From time to time supplements to this instruction book will be issued. These supplements will contain occupational names not in the Index, and any modifications of existing rulings. Each coder will be responsible for correcting his instruction book in accordance with these supplements. The supplements must be kept by him in good order and must not be destroyed after the corrections have been carried out.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF OCCUPATIONAL TERMS SHOWING THE CODE NUMBER OF THE GROUP TO WHICH EACH IS TO BE REFERRED.

The figures denote the Code Number of the Group under which the Occupation will be found.

If an Occupation is expressed by more than one word, and is not found under the first, it should be sought for under each successive word.

Sometimes an Occupation which does not appear in the Alphabetical List may be found under a description which is only a slight variation from it.

It has been found necessary to include in the Classified and Alphabetical Lists many names which are purely local and some which are scarcely more than nicknames.
